conference tables

conference tables

accessories and highlights

- Power and data with wire management.
- Reconfigurable training solutions.
- Matching bases and finishes for all Inwood products.
- Custom shapes and finishes available.
- Contemporary, transitional or traditional.

conference table detailing

Contemporary, transitional or traditional; there is a top and base combination for every specification. Choose base styles from wood or metal, top shapes in veneer or laminate, 13 standard wood edge profiles or a PVC edge. Add function with technology options and form with moldings and inserts.

Tailor the space around the table or choose from a vast offering to find the table that complements the space.

Finishes

Choose from 20 standard finish options utilizing birch, cherry, maple or walnut veneer on tops. Custom finishes are available, as well as a limited number of species.

Shapes

Choose from 17 standard top shapes including traditional tops for conferencing and ergonomic linking shapes for training. Custom shapes are available for that extraordinary project.

Whatever the function of your space, the table is sure to be the center of action. Specify the right table for the task and be assured of years of worry-free service.

Training

Whether specifying a large dedicated training space or just a few multi-functioning tables, there are shapes, finishes, options and accessories available to create tables that perform beyond expectations.

Conference & Meeting

Small tables for intimate interoffice meetings, medium tables for multi-tasking and large tables for the board of directors - in any style, shape or finish. With the choices available it's easy to coordinate tables for an entire building or a single office suite based on specific needs.

Tables have become more than just the center of a room, they have become tools where decisions are made, information is disseminated and the future is decided.

conference components

conference components

accessories and highlights

- Wall boards with writing and tack surfaces.
- Large selection of standard cabinet configurations.
- Technology support systems.
- Matching finishes for all Inwood products.
- Contemporary, transitional or traditional.

conference component detailing

Today's conference room is more than a table, it's a space that requires the smartest in components for work, storage and support. Bookcases, wall boards, lecterns, audio/visual/technology cabinets and mobile carts can be specified in matching styles and finishes for a unified visual experience; thoughtful design enables flawless functioning to keep people productive.

Don't just specify a conference table, design a conference space with confidence and clarity.

Finishes

Veneers and finishes are available depending on the line and style that is specified. Custom finishes are also available. Consult the Inwood price list for complete details.

Hardware

Hardware choices have been coordinated to accentuate the line and style that is specified. Pulls may be mixed and matched, dependent upon availability and selection.

Support components can make the difference between a thoughtful space and a space that has not been designed for thinking.

Freestanding Components

An assortment of freestanding components, from cabinets to carts, are available in a multitude of configurations and styles. Perfect for spaces that may be temporary or transitional, they can be reconfigured and added to when space allows or needs mandate.

Build A Wall Unit

Configure storage cabinets, wardrobes, tv cabinets, bookcases, filing systems and overhead units into a custom, modular wall unit. Focus support around technological needs or simply create a library for reference using standard casegood offerings.

Anything is possible.

High-tech databases, hardbound reference materials, state-of-the-art audio/visual and classic client files can all benefit from the use of conference components to support the mission of your space.
